

SCHOFULA AND ALL HUMORS GIVE WAY

There are many things learned from experience and observation that the older generation should impress upon the younger. Among them is the fact that scrofula and other humors, which produce eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions, can be most successfully treated with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

This great medicine is a peculiar combination of remarkably effective blood-purifying and health-giving roots, herbs and berries, which are gathered especially for it. Hood's Sarsaparilla has stood the test of forty years.

WARNING TO USERS OF HAIR REMOVERS

Don't Experiment With So-Called Superfluous Hair Removers.

If you use a simple toilet preparation, and it proves to be worthless, you only lose money. It is a very serious matter, however, when you use a doubtful hair remover, because it will either result in permanent disfigurement or cost you many dollars and take months or possibly years to gain control of the growth after it has been stimulated by the use of such preparations.

It is a waste of time to use pastes and rub-on preparations which merely remove hair from the surface of the skin. To rob hair of its life sustaining force, you must dissolve it by attacking it under the skin as well as on the skin. Nothing but DeMitrade, the original liquid depilatory, can accomplish this result.

Initiations of DeMitrade are as worthless as pastes and rub-on preparations because they lack certain ingredients that DeMitrade alone contains which give it the power to rob hair of its vitality. Remember, DeMitrade is the only depilatory that has a binding guarantee in each package which entitles you to your money if it fails. Insist on the genuine DeMitrade and you will get the original liquid hair remover. Others are worthless imitations—refuse them.

DeMitrade is sold in $1.00 and $2.00 bottles. If your dealer will not supply you, order direct from us. The truth about the treatment of superfluous hair is set in plain, sealed envelopes on request. DeMitrade—Chemical Company, Dept. E, 2400 Ave. and 12th St. New York.

DRUG PRICES SOARING DUE TO LONG WAR

SUPPLY OF DRUGS BY JOBBING HOUSES IS DEPLETED TO EXHAUSTION

All the drugs imported from Europe are steadily advancing in price, until it is almost impossible to get any medicine without paying an exceedingly high price.

The largest chemical works in the world are in Germany and because they are tied up now, there are some drugs that are practically out of the markets.

Quinine, which has always been considered a common drug, has advanced from sixty-five cents an ounce to $2.50 an ounce. This is partly due to the great demand in the warring nations and also in the United States where there is more fever than has been known for fifty years. All the cultivated syphonous bark from which quinine is made is obtained in South America from the English possessions. England has refused to let the United States have any more because the production is being conserved for use in the British navy.

Carbolic acid has arisen from fifty cents a pound to $2.50 owing to it being made in Germany, where it is now used to make picric acid and high explosives. One medicine that has advanced in price more than any other is neosalvarsan, the great German blood poison cure. The price is now $25.00 a dose and druggists say that it is impossible to get it anywhere in the United States. It is made only in Germany and just a year ago it could be bought at $3.50 a dose.

All postsumps and coal tar products have advanced all the way from 500 to 400 per cent in price. They too are made in Germany. Phenacetine salts which once sold at $2.50 a pound is now on sale at $10 a pound and it is very hard to get. Bromide salts has risen from eighty cents a pound to $2.50 owing to it has advanced 100 per cent and only sells at 500 per cent.

Glycerine is $1 a pound, which is fifty cents more than it was last year. It is now being exported to other nations for use in making explosives. The demand is greater than the supply and the price is going up all the time.

Many others made encouraging remarks. Beginning with Rev. Calvin Lane, who invoked the blessings of God upon our deliberations, W. L. Harper of the C. M. E. Church; J. E. L. Sadder, lawyer of the city; Mrs. J. C. Horton, president of the Oklahoma federation of women clubs; Prof. G. W. Curry of the public schools; Rev. C. K. Proctor of the M. E. Church, South; Hon. C. A. The meeting was both a literary and educational feast, and served well to convert the pessimist to optimism and sweep from the clouded mind despondency and doubt in the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

THE GIFT SHE WANTED

But Not What The World Wanted Her To Have.

It was very cold and dark on the embankment. A thin sprinkling of snow lay like spilled powder upon the pavements. The bare trees were powdered, too, with silver, and pleaded, courted in the chill wind. The road stretched ahead, hard and shiny with the frost. Now and again a tram, with yellow eyes, ran sharply down it. A taxi sprang past occasionally, but for the most part the embankment was deserted. The embankment is not a rendezvous on New Year's Eve.

Here and there on the river side, a derelict dozed upon a bench and dreamed an empty stomach was full and numb hands and feet warm. Across the water the faint advertisements of tea and whiskey danced in rainbow lights, then faded automatically into the sky, only to reappear in a moment.

The dark water of the Thames flowed fierce, and mullen, bearing on its breast gleaming lights and the dark bottoms of barges.

On the river side of the embankment a woman stood and stared at the lights gleaming from the Savoy. Her lips were a little parted; her eyes stared. A little startled, she escaped her. She put up her hand and loosened the man's fur at her throat. She looked at her worn boots and shabby coat, then back again at the lights.

It wasn't so very long ago she had dined at the Savoy. Last New Year's Eve. There had been pearls about her throat, and the flowers on her plate had cost more than would have kept her in comfort for a week. When the clock had struck, twelve fairies had come from out its cavernous depths and danced about the room.

Last year, the Savoy; now she stood on the embankment and stared. "It doesn't seem fair," she

CONDITIONS IN OIL FIELD ARE MUCH BETTER

WORKINGMAN'S COMPENSATION LAW IS RESPONSIBLE FOR RENEWED ACTIVITY

Oilton, Okla., Nov. 12.—The greatest benefit obtained from the enforcement of the workingman's compensation law is, perhaps, the continued betterment of conditions surrounding the workingman, the removal of the cause of accidents and the gradual installment of more modernly equipped machinery with safety devices, according to A. D. Fitch of Oklahoma City, one of the inspectors working under the state rating board in putting into effect the provisions of that law.

Each and every industry, where men are employed, is visited by an inspector, in order that exact conditions may be learned and that the proper rating may be given each separate institution. Mr. Fitch was in Oilton this week, visiting several of the casinghead gasoline manufacturing plants in this vicinity. Because of the great number of men employed in the oil field, in various lines, the new compensation law is of the utmost importance to both the employer and the employee throughout this entire territory.

The employer who exerts the most care and looks the closest after the welfare of his men pays the lowest rate, while the fellow who is careless and lets things go ahead as they always have is forced to pay for it. The state rating board has a basic rate and each employer is rated according to the risk, even though they be engaged in the same line of industry. One man may be careful, the other careless. The rate is made accordingly.

The compensation law does not cover cases where employees meet death, and such cases must be determined by the courts as formerly unless compromises are reached. It is understood that a change in the law is contemplated that will include deaths from accidents. Where such provisions have been included in the past, the courts have held them unconstitutional.

Mr. Fitch says that while a number of the oil producers are carrying their own risks under the new law, yet the great majority of them have taken out insurance policies that cover the risks.

FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS

Keep Stomach Soft - Liver Active - Bowels Regular

There, I think she'll do nicely now," said a voice. She came back from a dream of unutterable warmth and peace to the knowledge of a narrow bed in a long, white-washed room; of someone bending over; of a blue-uniformed man in the background, the strong arm of the law laid presently close around the would-be "suicide." That was what she was—a would-be suicide who had been saved. She was not dead after all.

She would have to get up and starve again, and remember—stand in the dock perhaps—a "suicide." All the full horror of it came over her. She sat up in bed suddenly. With all her feeble strength she doubled her fist and hit the doctor's face. "Why, oh, why didn't he tell me?"

"Regular whiff, ain't she?" said the voice of officialdom as the hand of the officialdom reached for a notebook. But the doctor was very kind. He knew that to some people the sweetest gift of all is not life, but death.

The report that has recently been circulated about town that the O. M. U. football team had disbanded and would play no more games this season is not true.

The team is practicing for a game with Alva next Friday at Alva and will then play a Thanksgiving game with Kingfisher College in Guthrie. This will be the second game with Kingfisher and is expected to be a close game as the score of the first game was 5 to 3 in favor of Kingfisher.

A meeting of 18 football men was held in the Literary Hall this morning at which time the men voted to train and practice hard for the coming game.

After the football season closes basketball will be taken up immediately. Several games have already been matched.
